General information

Please don't forget that all events are taking place in a residential area so keep noise and littering to a minimum, especially in the evening.

All participating households can be identified by yellow balloons outside. Please respect the residents of this area and only approach houses which are clearly marked.

In this project audience members are viewed as guests in people's homes; please treat these spaces as you would your own home and please acknowledge that we, the curators and participating artists cannot take any responsibility for any accidents or injuries sustained over the course of this weekend.

For the duration of Household, Satis House (86 Deramore Avenue) will function as an information point. Please drop by between opening hours with any enquiries:

Friday 5pm – 10pm
Saturday 12pm – 5pm
Sunday 12pm – 5pm

About

Household is an event that encourages audiences to re-negotiate the way in which they view and interact with art in the city. It offers an opportunity to experience new work in unrestricted non-commercial and non-institutionalised contexts by inviting members of the public into selected artists' homes.

There is a large concentration of creative professionals living in South Belfast who have agreed to open up their households to showcase a variety of work – from fine art, performance and installation to live music, talks and discussions.

Household provides a supportive framework in which these practitioners curate their own homes, while simultaneously encouraging visitors to explore intimate domestic spaces in an accessible and exciting way.

The lead curators of this project are Sighle Bhreathnach-Cashell, Eoin Dara, Ciara Hickey, Alissa Kleist and Kim McAleese.
