				Response to Q2
TD/Minister	Party		Response to Q1  Do you want to see a border poll in Northern Ireland during this government's term?
Mick Barry	AAA-PBP	Cork North-Central	No		exe, would put adjust recursionation in a vise was intered in a line required in a line r
Gino Kenny	AAA-PBP	Dublin Mid-West		Yes	Td like to see a unitled Ireland. In order for that to happen there has to be a consensus in the six counties. A border poll has been mooted many times over the last 20/30 years, a focus is on it against after the Brexit vote. I'm not against it, it depends on how it's done. It's about timing, I'm not sure it would pass, probably not based on p
Brid Smith Paul Murphy	AAA-PBP AAA-PBP	Dublin South-Central Dublin South-West			this issue has been properly debated. We have a lot of reform to do before we look attractive to Northern reland. I am in favour of a united reland, but it depends on how it was was represented, what kind of united reland.
Ruth Coppinger	AAA-PBP				The Artif-Asterlity Alliance TD as are opposed to the calls for a Sorder poil. A softer poil A softer poil A softer poil Assert poil Asser
Richard Boyd Barrett	AAA-PBP		Yes	Yes	We would support a border poil, another question is whether or not it would pass.
Brendan Smith	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
Niamh Smyth Timmy Dooley	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil	Cavan-Monaghan Clare			We don't believe a Broder PRI is needed within the lifetine of this Covernment. It is too premature. While Breat has certainly focused the minist of many people, north and south, on a re-united reland, a Broder PRI is not what is needed now. Finans FAI's policy has always been for a re-united reland, housever, this relation is not in the princip of
Kevin O'Keeffe	Fianna Fáil	Cork East			As a republican I would support such a poll whenever it would be due to take place. A united freland is something that has the potential to prosper economically socially and culturally and as a member of Fianns Fáil the Republican Party I would support any such move.
Michael Moynihan	Fianna Fáil				We don't believe a Border Poll is needed within the lifetime of this Government. It is too premature. While Brexit has certainly focused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united Ireland, a Border Poll is not what is needed now. Fianna Fălf's policy has always been for a re-united Ireland. However, this can only be achie
Micheál Martin Michael McGrath	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil	Cork South-Central Cork South-Central		Other Didn't answer	Fianna Fáil is absolubely committed to the reunification of Ireland and has been since its foundation. While in Government we were central to the Good Friday Negotiations, in which we negotiated and agreed the mechanism for a border poil. However, the holding of such a border poil is the end point of a process, where a majority of
Margaret Murphy O'Mahony		Cork South-West			We don't believe a Border Poll is needed within the lifetime of this Government. It is too premature. While Brexit has certainly focused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united freland, a Border Poll is not what is needed now. Fianns Fálfs policy has always been for a re-united ireland. However, this can only be achie
Seán Haughey	Fianna Fáil		Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Jim O'Callaghan	Fianna Fáil	Dublin Bay South Dublin Mid-West			Even though I believe partition was a sectarian solution to a political problem, I believe a border poil during this government's term would be inadvisable. Irish unity will only be achieved when we can bring together the different traditions on this island. At present, I million unionists in Northern Ireland are opposed to and distrustful of hi
John Curran John Lahart	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil			Yes Didn't answer
Jack Chambers	Fianna Fáil	Dublin West			Fianna Fáil does not believe a Border Poll is needed within the lifetime of this government. It's too premature. While Brexit has certainly focused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united Ireland, a Border Poll is not what is needed now. Fianna Fáil's policy has always been for a re-united Ireland. However, this can on
Anne Rabbitte	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
Éamon Ó Cuív John Brassil	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil	Galway West Kerry		Didn't answer Yes	We don't believe a Border Poll is needed within the lifetime of this Covernment. It is too premature. While Break has certainly focused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united freland, a Border Poll is not what is needed now. Fianna Fair's policy has always been for a re-united freland. However, this can only be achie
Seán O'Fearghail	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
Fiona O'Loughlin	Fianna Fáil	Kildare South			As a member of Fianna Fäil, the republic party, a united Ireland is an aspiration. The problems that Brexit is going to cause with one part of the country being in the EU and the other not. (A united Ireland) is an aspiration to work towards.
Willie O'Dea Robert Troy	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer	I can't answer in a ves or no. It's up to the pecode of Northern Ireland if they want it.
Barry Cowen	Fianna Fáil				Leant asswer in a yes or tro, its up to time people of in notinent inestinal in many wants. We don't before a Border Poil is not what is needed now. Flanna Fáif's policy has always been for a re-united ireland. However, this can only be achie
	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
Charlie McConalogue	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer	We don't believe a Broder Poll is needed within the lifetime of this Covernment. It is too oremature. While Brexit has certainly focused the minds of many occole, north and south, on a re-united relaind. a Border Poll is not what is needed now. Finns Fall's collor has always been for are-united relaind. However, this can only be achie
Bobby Aylward John McGuinness	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil	Carlow-Kilkenny Carlow-Kilkenny		Yes Didn't answer	We don't believe a Border Poil is needed within the lifetime of this Coveniment. It is too premature. While stream is certainly becaused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united trelaind, a border Poil is not writed is needed now. Hanna Fairs poucly has always been for a re-united trelaind. However, this can only be achieved.
Billy Kelleher	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
	Fianna Fáil	Dublin Fingal			We don't believe a Border Poll in needed within the lifetime of this Government. It is too premature. While Brexit has certainly focused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united Ireland, a Border Poll is not what is needed now. Fianna Fálf's policy has always been for a re-united Ireland. However, this can only be achie
James Lawless Frank O'Rourke	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil	Kildare North Kildare North			A border poil now would be premature. The Good Friddy Agreement says a border poil should be conducted when there is clear support for it from all atlasheholders. Holding a border poil now that would very likely fail would be footbardly and could risk long term damage to the resumflication project. Post-Breatl, work has to increase to for identification that is not provided by the support of t
Seán Fleming	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer	Total talls a code por would adject adjusting it would be a disable. It is not at all the mit of the population of the mit of the mi
Niall Collins	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
Declan Breathnach	Fianna Fáil	Louth		Didn't answer
Dara Calleary Lisa Chambers	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer Didn't answer
Thomas Byrne	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
Eugene Murphy Marc MacSharry	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil	Roscommon-Galway Sligo-Leitrim			We don't believe a Broder Priol is needed within the lifetime of this government. It is too premature. While Brest has certainly focused the minds of many people, north and south, on a re-united Ireland, a Border Poil is not what is needed now. A re-united Ireland has always been Fianna Fáils policy, however I would not want this to be for the prior of t
Eamon Scanlon	Fianna Fáil			Yes	to the to see a united ireative. This is the quintate political ureative.
Jackie Cahill	Fianna Fáil	Tipperary	No	Yes	Td be afraid the mood wouldn't be there, it would be rushing things. Td love to see it happen. Reunification would be a big step forward for the country.
Mary Butler	Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer
James Browne Pat Casey	Fianna Fáil Fianna Fáil			Didn't answer Didn't answer
Aindrias Moynihan	Fiannna Fáil			Yes
	Fine Gael		No	Other	It is my view that the question of a united Ireland must be dealt with through the Good Friday Agreement and I do not think that now is the right time for a border poll.
David Stanton Dara Murphy	Fine Gael			Didn't answer Didn't answer
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
Jim Daly	Fine Gael	Cork South-West		Didn't answer
Joe McHugh	Fine Gael	Donegal		Didn't answer
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer Didn't answer
Kate O'Connell	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
	Fine Gael		Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Frances Fitzgerald Noel Rock	Fine Gael	Dublin Mid-West Dublin North-West	Other Didn't answer	Other Didn't answer	As co-guarantor of the Good Friday Agreement, the Government is committed fully to supporting its provisions. That Agreement addresses the question of a united ireland. The Tanuiste fully supports the provisions of the Good Friday Agreement and its successor Agreement in this regard. If, in the future, the people North and South
	Fine Gael	Dublin Rathdown			There is no evidence that a border poil in Northern Poil would result in a change to the status quo. In fact, the evidence points to the current arrangement, of devolved government based in Stormont, as being the preferred option for most people in Northern Ireland. The peace process, which is hugely important for people inving both in
Catherine Byrne	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
Colm Brophy	Fine Gael			Didn't answer Other	Delive there will be a united freland within my lifetime. However, know that now the
Leo Varadkar Seán Rarrett	Fine Gael	Dublin West Dûn Laoghaire		Other Didn't answer	besieve there will be a united ireland within my stetime. However, I know that now this is not the time for a border poil. It would be unsuccessful and divisive and could undermine relations between the two communities in the North. We need to achieve a unity of purpose tirst of all.
Maria Bailey	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
Ciarán Cannon Seán Kyne	Fine Gael Fine Gael	Galway East Galway West		Yes Other	would not have any objections to a border poil. However, to the best of my knowledge, this issue has not been raised with me by anyone over the past number of years. A referendum would have to be held in both jurisdictions of the island of Ireland. The merging of Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland would have clear benef
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer	, who can any amount of the region of the re
Brendan Griffin	Fine Gael	Kerry		Didn't answer
Bernard Durkan Martin Heydon	Fine Gael	Kildare North Kildare South	No Didn't answer	Other Didn't answer	This question is premature and at this time not relevant. The important issue is that every effort is made to ensure that the North and South of Ireland are adequately and fully provided for in the aftermath of Brexit.
Martin Heydon Charlie Flanagan	Fine Gael	Kildare South Laois	No No		In 1998 the Good Friday Agreement was endorsed by majorities on this island, North and South. Among its key provisions is the principle of consent with regard to the constitutional status of Northern Ireland. I do not believe that sufficient support exists at present for a border poli that would result in constitutional change. Such a poli.
Michael Noonan	Fine Gael		Didn't answer	Didn't answer
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
Patrick O'Donovan Peter Burke	Fine Gael	Limerick County Longford-Westmeath		Didn't answer Yes	It is too soon and would be extremely pollically divisive. At present, there is no evidence of a majority wanting to join the Republic. People have a right to their opinion but discussions of border poll in the short-term future are premature. If a poll was to be held, the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland must judge it likely that a majorit
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer	, programment of the control of the
Fergus O'Dowd	Fine Gael	Louth	Yes	Yes	I would support if it it had a chance of success, but it would depend on Brexit and other issues.
Regina Doherty	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
Helen McEntee Damien English	Fine Gael			Didn't answer Didn't answer
Marcella Corcoran Kennedy				Didn't answer
Tony McLoughlin	Fine Gael	Sligo-Leitrim	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Michael D'Arcy Paul Kehoe	Fine Gael	Wexford Wexford		Yes Didn't answer
	Fine Gael			Didn't answer Didn't answer
Simon Harris	Fine Gael	Wicklow	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Pat Deering	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
John Paul Phelan Pat Breen	Fine Gael	Carlow-Kilkenny Clare		Yes Didn't answer	I would like to see a united Ireland, but we should wall to have a vote until there's a reasonable prospect of success. It's too premature now.
Joe Carey	Fine Gael			Didn't answer
Simon Coveney	Fine Gael	Cork South-Central	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Paschal Donohoe Enda Kenny	Fine Gael Fine Gael	Dublin Central Mayo	Didn't answer	Didn't answer	We have made it perfectly clear that the question of a united Ireland is contained in the Cood Friday Agreement, which I support fully, and of which I, as Head of Covernment, am a co-guarantor with the British Covernment. The Good Friday Agreement and its successor agreements contain a very clear measure to the effect that if per
	Fine Gael		No Didn't answer	Other Didn't answer	The second secon
John Deasy	Fine Gael	Waterford	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Eamon Ryan	Green Party	Dublin Bay South			The Green Party would only like to see a border poll in Northern Ireland when the time is right, which is not the case as it currently stands.
Catherine Martin Denis Naughten	Green Party Independent	Dublin Rathdown Roscommon-Galway			One of the outcomes of the Breat referendum was the immediate call by some for a border poil. Feeling is should live to see a unified beneficial by passed in the Breat referendum was the immediate call by some for a border poil. Feeling is should be the benefit and the sound in the Breat referendum was the immediate call by some for a border poil. The Breat referendum to the Broad referendum of the Broad referendum that the Broad referendum the Broad referendum that the Broad referendum that the Broad referendum that the Broad reference the Broad reference that the Broad referenc
Michael Harty	Independent			Didn't answer	g source per in cook may represent an an account of a popular new as a popular and a second of the count of t
Michael Collins	Independent	Cork South-West	Yes	Yes

Thomas Pringle	Independent	Donegal	Yes	Other	We should start the process and have regular polis as required. I would support reunification without a poll in the south. I don't believe we would need one but if necessary go ahead and have one. A border poll if held should be held on both sides of the border anyway, it does not only affect the six counties.
Maureen O'Sullivan	Independent	Dublin Central	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Katherine Zappone	Independent	Dublin South-West	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Catherine Connolly	Independent	Galway West	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Noel Grealish	Independent	Galway West	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Michael Healy-Rae	Independent	Kerry	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Danny Healy-Rae	Independent	Kerry	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Michael Lowry	Independent	Tipperary	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Mattie McGrath	Independent	Tipperary	Yes	Yes	I would support the idea of a Border Poll. As a political proposition there would appear to be little to fear in subjecting the issue to a democratic vote. Consensus is a key principle of the post Good Friday politics. If the proposition was put in line with the provisions of that Agreement then it might provide a measure of clarity that w
Stephen Donnelly	Independent	Wicklow	Didn't answer	Didn't answer	Wicklow Stephen Donnelli Social Democrat I Wicklow
Finian McGrath	Independent Alliance	Dublin Bay North	Yes	Yes
Shane Ross	Independent Alliance	Dublin Rathdown	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Seán Canney	Independent Alliance	Galway East	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Michael Fitzmaurice	Independent Alliance	Roscommon-Galway	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Kevin 'Boxer' Moran	Independent Alliance	Longford-Westmeath	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
John Halligan	Independent Alliance	Waterford	Yes	Yes	Yes, but only with the consent of both governments and the people.
Tommy Broughan	Independents 4 Change	Dublin Bay North	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Clare Daly	Independents4Change	Dublin Fingal	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Joan Collins	Independents4Change	Dublin South-Central	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Mick Wallace	Independents4Change	Wexford	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Seán Sherlock	Labour	Cork East	Other	Other	support unification. I am a republican. But If I say that I don't support a border poll at this point that can colour any perception of my position in terms of reunification. The idea of a border poll now, should it happen and not succeed, could actually put the cause of reunification on the back foot for even longer. There is a nuance to
Joan Burton	Labour	Dublin West	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Jan O'Sullivan	Labour	Limerick City	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Willie Penrose	Labour		Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Alan Kelly	Labour	Tipperary	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Brendan Howlin	Labour	Wexford	No	Yes	It is the view of the Labour Party that reunification of the island of freland must be our ambition, but we recognise the principle of consent that underpins the ongoing peaceful settlement in Northern Ireland. Under the terms of the Good Friday Agreement, the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland is empowered to determine the
Brendan Ryan	Labour	Dublin Fingal	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Kathleen Funchion	Sinn Féin	Carlow-Kilkenny	Yes	Yes
Caoimhghín Ó Caoláin	Sinn Féin	Cavan-Monaghan	Yes	Yes
Pat Buckley	Sinn Féin	Cork East	Yes	Yes	Under the Good Friday Agreement there is a provision for holding a border poil on Irish reunflication. The Irish people north and south voted overwhelmingly in support of this agreement and this provision and support for the peace process has only grown and become stronger in the intervening 18 years. Society in the north and
Jonathan O'Brien	Sinn Féin	Cork North-Central	Yes	Yes
Donnchadh Ó Laoghaire	Sinn Féin	Cork South-Central	Yes	Yes
Pearse Doherty		Donegal	Yes	Yes	A Border Poll and its mechanism is a core part of the Good Friday Agreement which was overwhelmingly accepted by the Irish people. It is time to have the debate and the poll. I am confident this debate will allow for the benefits if Irish reunification to be set out especially the economic benefits. The latest academic research sur
Mary Lou McDonald	Sinn Féin	Dublin Central	Yes	Yes	A bodot i di sina la montania in a coto part di rici cocca i nati programa i manifesta i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i manifesta i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati cocca i nati programa i nati constitui antico part di rici cocca i nati programa i nati rici nati programa i nati programa i nati rici nati programa i nati p
Louise O'Reilly	Sinn Féin	Dublin Fingal	Yes	Yes
Eoin Ó Broin	Sinn Féin	Dublin Mid-West	Yes	Yes	believe the people have a right to decide on the issue of Irish unity and because I feel the time is right for a serious debate about the negative impacts of partition north and south and of the benefits of reunification. Irish unity makes social, economic and cultural sense. Post-Brexit it is also the only way to ensure that the negative
Dessie Ellis	Sinn Féin	Dublin Mid-West  Dublin North-West	Yes	Yes	locative the people many and people in the state of the people in the pe
Aengus Ó Snodaigh	Sinn Fein	Dublin North-West  Dublin South-Central	Yes	Other	would see a active point or our sizes or the context, the time frame that would be necessary to earn a size of the context of
Seán Crowe	Sinn Féin	Dublin South-Central	Yes Yes	Yes	петет в по песе ил а туге в или в завет, в в рошу апо ситвишилия и роз нате а туге и толичен в теали.
Martin Ferris	Sinn Féin	Kerry	Yes	Yes
Brian Stanley	Sinn Féin	Laois	Yes	Yes	Due to Brexit if the North is dragged out of the EU by England, then there will be two currencies and two political systems on the island and one part of Ireland in the EU and the other out of it. The island divided in three different ways such as this will have serious impact socially, economically and politically. Reunification would the
Maurice Quinlivan	Sinn Féin	Limerick City	Yes	Yes	As an Irish Republican I genuinely believe that a united Ireland is in the best interests of all our Clitzens to me it makes common sense to have a border poil and to progress to a united Ireland. A united Ireland is one of the fundamental reasons I'm involved in politics.
Gerry Adams	Sinn Féin	Louth	Yes	Yes	If firmly believe that building a united treland is in the interests of every firsh citizen, north and south, and offers the most sensible, prudent path to ensuring long-term prosperity, progress and equality for everyone on the island. We need to be planning for the future, not sustaining the mistakes of the past and partition, which has
Imelda Munster	Sinn Féin	Louth	Yes	Yes	It is of huge significance in building a case for the reunification of our country and it is ong overdue. I would vote in support of the reunification of my country. As an Irish republican woman it is at the very core of my beliefs, my daily work and it is an integral part of everything I believe in and strive for.
Peadar Tóibín	Sinn Féin	Meath West	Yes	Yes	To give a democratic chance to the people of the north to indicate their choice. To reduce duplication and therefore the cost of key public service delivery across the country. To reduce the barriers to enterprise on the island. To increase the market available to enterprise. To reduce the constraints on workers working on the island.
Carol Nolan	Sinn Féin	Offaly	Yes	Yes	Partition has impacted and stunted development on this island and has been an obstacle in terms of developing agriculture and tourism. It doesn't make sense to have two legal systems and two currencies on such a small island. Unity makes sense and would benefit all of the people of this island.
Martin Kenny	Sinn Féin	Sligo-Leitrim	Yes	Yes
David Cullinane	Sinn Féin	Waterford	Yes	Yes	Obviously as a republican of course I'd like to see a border poll. Now it's not a descision for me to make. That is up to the politicians in the Northern Ireland.
John Brady	Sinn Féin	Wicklow	Yes	Yes
Denise Mitchell	Sinn Féin	Dublin Bay North	Yes	Yes
Catherine Murphy	Social Democrat	Kildare North	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
Róisin Shortall	Social Democrats	Dublin North-West	Didn't answer	Didn't answer
			Didn't answer	Didn't answer	